and acknowledges he had no business requiring his attention in Dundoo. He says that he and his wife drank heavily, last night before retiring, and he does not know how he got to bed Upon awaking, he says, he found his wife lying upon the floor with a rope around her neck Actuated by a sudden mad impulse, for which he cannot account, he seized a knife and slashed the body. Upon reason returning he became alarmed and hastily crushed the body into the chest in which it was found, thinking to fly and make his escape. He found, however, that he could not leave his wife's remains, and finally resolved to inform the police.

The theory of the police officials is that Bury's wife knew of facts connecting him with the East-End atrocities, and that she took him to Dandes in the hope of preventing a recurrence of the crimes. RURGLARY AND MURDER IN SWANSEA.
